

If you will give the least bit of thought or study to the structure of your eyes you will realize how delicate they are, and how easily the eyesight may be injured.

Injured because of carelessness and neglect or by incompetent services.

The first requisite of dependable eyeglass service is a thorough examination by an Oculist—for without it you cannot get satisfactory glasses.

With every pair of Harris Glasses we include the careful, scientific services of an Oculist (Registered Physician).

Time and again we hear: "How can you afford to give such services at such nominal prices?" or, "I have always paid an Oculist $3 or $5 for the examination alone."

The answer is simple—we have the Largest Optical patronage in the world; the cost of our professional services is distributed over an enormous number of examinations—the individual cost to us of each examination is, therefore, trivial.

Harris Glasses—if needed—cost $2 or more.

COURT WRIT FAILS TO RELEASE 'BENNY'; SENT TO CORONER

Judge Delehanty Delays Habeas Corpus Action in Hilair Case.

Justice Delehanty this afternoon refused to interfere with the arraignment of Benjamin Sternberg later in the day before Coroner Riordan on the charge of killing Mrs. Elsie Lee Hilair in the Hotel Martinique last Thursday.

Sternberg had been brought from the Tombs for appearance on a writ of habeas corpus, the second obtained for him, before Justice Delehanty, and the latter, after accepting a brief from the prisoner's counsel, reserved decision on the motion to release him.

Justice Delehanty stated that if there was reasonable cause to believe that Sternberg was implicated in the crime, the coroner had the right to hold him pending a further investigation. Sternberg was therefore taken back to the Tombs to await the hour of arraignment.

When the prisoner left the Tombs to appear before Justice Delehanty, Mrs. Sternberg and several of her friends were at the door in a motor car. After greeting him they followed slowly in the car. Mrs. Sternberg talking to him throughout his journey afoot to the courthouse. A great crowd followed, too.

At the hearing before Coroner Riordan it was said the police would present a witness who could testify that she saw Mrs. Hilair and a man answering the description of Sternberg leave the Hotel Martinique about 2 o'clock in the afternoon of the day the woman was murdered and go to a theatre.

Police Inspector Cray stated to-day that he had had a talk with Irene Murray, Mrs. Hilair's niece, in Brooklyn last night and learned from her that the last meal of which the murdered woman was known to have partaken was eaten in her own home. Ever since the discovery of the murder the police have been seeking the restaurant in which it was supposed she had eaten the macaroni found in her stomach. Miss Murray has been so unstrung since the murder that her physician forbade questioning by the police until last night. Inspector Cray interrogated her in the presence of a lawyer, he said.

Investigation of the several stages of police procedure in the Hilair case bring to light a routine so many years old and a mass of red departmental tape so tangled and yet, apparently, so strong that many valuable hours were lost before the police got into anything like action. One of the most incredible phases of the case is that, for hours, evidently, the police were in possession of two separate and distinct descriptions of the dead woman, one made by the policeman who examined the body, the other by her husband, who asked that an alarm be sent out for her as she had failed to come home as usual.

These descriptions, filed in detail, even to the initials engraved on her wedding ring, but no one in the Police Department thought to compare them, and establish the identity of the murdered woman.

Mrs. Hilair was reported as dead on Friday morning last by Dr. Lewis of the Hotel Martinique, who communicated with the Coroner's Office.

The Coroner's Office gave permission for the removal of the body to an undertaking establishment in East 104th Street.

When word of Mrs. Hilair's death reached the West Thirtieth Street station Police Officer Frank Schmitt was sent to the hotel. He saw Dr. Lewis and later reported to Inspector Cray and Assistant District Attorney Joyce that Dr. Lewis had said to him that the woman had died of hemorrhage and that there was nothing suspicious in the case. Dr. Lewis denied this, saying that he simply said that the woman was dead.

Based on the statement of the physician, Schmitt reported the case to his station house as "nothing suspicious." But while he was at the hotel Schmitt heard that valuable rings worn by the woman were missing, so that when an undertaker came to the hotel saying he had permission to remove the body, Schmitt refused to let him take it until he showed written permission from the Coroner.

A telephone message to the coroner about the rings resulted in an order that the body be removed to the station, and this was done, the police of the West Thirtieth Street station notifying the Detective Bureau at 1:19 o'clock.

Detective Sergeant Moore and Detective Sergeant Cray took personal charge of it, had the body removed to the West Thirtieth Street station and thence to the Morgue, and began an investigation in the hotel. The Standard Laboratories were notified and Dr. Klein took numerous specimens from the woman's room for examination.

Antiquated procedure requires that autopsies shall be performed in the morning, so it was not until Saturday forenoon that Dr. Schmitt of the District Attorney's office performed it and reported that Mrs. Hilair had been strangled.

When Deputy Commissioner Scott was asked to-day about Mr. Hilair's report to the Brooklyn police on Thursday night that his wife had not returned to her home as usual, he said:

"When a grown person is reported missing the alarm is held for twenty-four hours before being sent out, unless there are suspicious circumstances connected with the disappearance, but detectives are ordered to make an investigation."

This was done in the Hilair case, and the alarm did not reach Headquarters in New York until Saturday morning with the regular police papers from Brooklyn. At that time Miss Murray called up Headquarters for information about her aunt and went with Detective Sergeant Moore to the Martinique, identifying her aunt's writing in the "Florence Grey" on the register.

Be Careful in Using Soap on Your Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulified coconut oil, for it is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and costs the most expensive soap or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in; about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—Advt.

Vocal Delights in New Columbia List

THE Tenor of Tenors, Lazaro, gives a magnificently powerful rendering of the great aria, "M'Appari" from "Martha"—note on note leading up to a climax so breath-taking and wholly tremendous that it could only have been sung by the one "marvel-voice." (48788)

Among the other distinguished artists, Lucy Gates sings "The Nightingale Song" and the well-known "Listen To The Mocking Bird" in a soprano of exquisite quality that, combined with bird-calls by a marvelous girl whistler, makes this a record truly worth hearing. (A 5937) Another remarkable record is Graveure's interpretation of the infinitely sweet melody of the world's most loved lullaby, "Kentucky Babe," (A 5939) and Morgan Kingston's wonderfully expressive singing of "My Little Love" and "Wonderful Garden of Dreams." (A 5934)

Al Jolson is again the "star number" of the fourteen popular vocal hits, with "Ev'ry Little While" (A 2181), and there are ten dances as good as the fox-trot listed below.

A Glimpse of This Month's Song and Dance Hits

A 2189 10-inch 75c	THERE'S JUST A LITTLE BIT OF MONKEY. M. J. O'Connell, tenor.	A 5930 12-inch $1.00	POOR BUTTERFLY. Introducing "Come on Down to Ragtime Town." Fox-Trot, Prince's Band.
	COME OUT OF THE KITCHEN, MARY ANN. M. J. O'Connell, tenor.		YOU AND I. Fox-Trot, Prince's Band.
A 2184 10-inch 75c	THAT GOODY MELODY. Irving Kaufman, tenor.	A 2171 10-inch 75c	I'M COMING BACK TO CALIFORNIA. Empire Male Trio.
	MISERY. George O'Connor, tenor.		THE WHOLE WORLD COMES FROM DIXIE. Irving Kaufman, Tenor.

Then there is Easter music by the Columbia Double Mixed Quartette, violin classics played by Frank Gittelsohn, a truly marvelous symphonic rendering of Tchaikowsky's "Marche Slave," two triumphs by the Trio de Lutèce, three readings by Olga Petrova, the famous screen star, orchestral triumphs, band marches, quartettes, Christian Science hymns, Ballet Russe, light opera and vocal selections, and accordion-banjo and banjo novelties. There is rich variety in this month's list—well worth a visit to your dealer today.
